Chancellor John J. Bowen '77

In January 2018, Chancellor John J. Bowen announced his retirement from Johnson & Wales University at the end of the 2018 calendar year, bringing to a close a tenure where he has been at the forefront of the transformation of JWU into the pioneering educational institution it is today.

Chancellor Bowen's impacts on the university are immeasurable. He helped guide the university's development of culinary arts education as a faculty member, director and dean. He reaffirmed the university's focus on career education by establishing what is today known as Experiential Education & Career Services. As vice president of administration, executive vice president, president of the Providence Campus, university president, chief executive officer and chancellor, he has implemented a vision for the growth of JWU and its Downcity and Harborside communities. One of Chancellor Bowen's proudest accomplishments is the establishment of the Chancellor's Student Relief Fund, which provides support for students facing unexpected financial needs in emergency situations so they can continue pursuing their dream of a Johnson & Wales education.

On the occasion of his announcement, Chair of the JWU Board of Trustees James H. Hance Jr. '06 Hon., wrote to the JWU community:

"On behalf of the Board of Trustees, we acknowledge Chancellor John Bowen's announcement of his intent to retire at the end of 2018. We wish to express our gratitude for his 45 years of extraordinary dedication and service to Johnson & Wales University. His accomplishments during his time are numerous and impactful.

"Johnson & Wales has transformed under John's leadership in many vital ways. He has made complicated and bold decisions in the best interest of our university. FOCUS 2011 was an ambitious plan that launched Johnson & Wales into uncharted areas. John and his team deftly recognized the need to address many issues such as affordability and retention efforts ahead of many of our peers. Through thoughtful and deliberate planning, he has moved this university in new directions, most recently health sciences, always with the intent to provide our students with better professional and personal lives. In September 2016, we recognized and celebrated his leadership with the dedication of the John J. Bowen Center for Science and Innovation – a fitting tribute to his more than four decades of service to the students, faculty and staff of Johnson & Wales."

The JWU community thanks Chancellor Bowen for his inspiring 45 years of dedication to Johnson & Wales University and extends its congratulations and best wishes to First Lady Kathleen Harney and Chancellor Bowen as they prepare for the next chapter in their lives.

Student Speaker

THU DINH MINH TRAN '18

Hotel & Lodging Management

Thu (“Aimee”) Dinh Minh Tran is a 20-year-old international student from Saigon, Vietnam, graduating today magna cum laude with a bachelor’s degree in Hotel & Lodging Management from the College of Hospitality Management and a minor in Sommelier from the College of Culinary Arts. She speaks three languages: English, Korean and Vietnamese.

Tran’s study abroad journey began in South Carolina as a 16-year-old high school senior in 2014. Living far away from home helped her to become an independent, ambitious and self-driven individual. It also helped her in her role as a JWU orientation leader, facilitating transitional programs for first-year and transfer students in the summer of 2016.

As a student, Tran gained industry exposure by researching and consulting for Smith Travel Research, Mandarin Oriental Hotel in Boston and The Inn at Villanova Hotel. In the summer of 2017, she worked as a luxury property management intern at Equity Residential, handling all aspects of consumer relations and support for up to 100 customers per day. At Equity she also researched and developed competitive analysis and pricing proposals, while being responsible for daily property inspection and maintenance service requests for 444 apartment units.

Active in DECA, Tran participated in the group’s International Career Development Conference, placing in the Top 10 in the role-play category in both 2016 and 2017. She also placed second in the international category in 2016. A Student Government Association senator since 2016, Tran became the Appropriations Committee co-chair in 2017 and has also been a National Student Organizations executive board member since 2016.

Post-graduation, Tran will further explore the field of luxury residential management, working for Equity Residential and holding a management position in Paris Baguette Store, both in New York City.

Alumni Speaker

DIANE D'AMBRA, M.S., SPHR, SHRM-SCP

Vice President of Human Resources, Johnson & Wales University

Diane D'Ambra is an accomplished human resources professional with extensive senior-level experience in all aspects of human resources including strategic planning, organizational development, employee relations, compensation, benefits, recruitment, performance management, development and training, and regulatory compliance. A Johnson & Wales alumna, she holds a master's degree in Human Resource Development from Villanova University and earned her senior professional in human resources (SPHR) certification from the HR Certification Institute as well as senior certified professional (SHRM-SCP) certification from the Society for Human Resource Management.

D'Ambra began her career at the university in 1983 when she worked as a payroll assistant. After seven years in that role, she transitioned to assistant director of payroll & personnel where she redesigned the employee health insurance benefits program, combining eight regional plans into one comprehensive national plan. She also restructured the student employment programs to give students more meaningful work opportunities.

D'Ambra was instrumental in establishing JWU's human resources structure and in 2000, was promoted to director of human resources. In this position, she helped build consistent standards of excellence universitywide by creating and implementing the JWU Employee Competency Model. During that time, she also redesigned the employee retirement benefit which has resulted in a successful program with 97 percent employee participation.

In her current role as vice president of human resources, D'Ambra is a member of the president's senior management team. She provides strategic human resources leadership for a multi-state, multi-campus system with more than 2,000 employees and 14,000 students while leading 30-plus staff members.

Honorary Degree Recipient

THOMAS L. DWYER

Doctor of Business Administration

Thomas L. Dwyer announced his retirement as vice chancellor of Johnson & Wales University in December 2017 after a 39-year career at the university. During that span, Dwyer served as faculty member, budget director, vice president, executive vice president, provost and vice chancellor.

Dwyer began his JWU career teaching accounting and math in 1978 after his graduation from Bryant College, the first in his family to earn a college degree. He went on to earn a master's degree from Bryant, passing the CPA exam on his first try. To gain experience in the accounting field, he worked at Ernst & Whinney (now EY). The valuable lessons he learned there laid the foundation for a work ethic and strategies that would propel JWU into the 21st century.

In 1982, Dwyer was hired as a budget director to help with the installation of JWU's first universitywide computer system. As a JWU administrator, Dwyer found a career that combined his passion for numbers, management and education. He was instrumental in the university's strategic planning initiatives that spanned a quarter century. These include Vision 2001, which grew JWU's endowment; FOCUS 2011, which improved institutional quality; 2017: *The Centennial Plan, which invested in faculty and strengthened student engagement; and FOCUS 2022, a plan for academic growth and student success that will guide the university for the next five years. He also was instrumental in the opening of the Charlotte Campus in 2004.

In 2014, President Mim L. Runey, LP.D., asked Dwyer to take on a new role to guide the university's ongoing academic transformation. Since his appointment as provost, the university has added dozens of new degree programs to its academic portfolio, opening up a plethora of experiences and in-demand career opportunities for students. These programs include Biology, Culinary Science, Dietetics & Applied Nutrition, Health Science, Cyber Intelligence & Defense, Psychology, Political Science, and master's degrees in Physician Assistant Studies, Information Security/Assurance, Finance, and Human Resource Management.

After announcing his retirement, Dwyer expressed his gratitude to his faculty colleagues with a significant gift to support the establishment of a faculty institute at JWU. The goals of the institute are to underscore the university's pursuit of excellence in teaching and learning through the promotion of current industry best practices, the advancement of faculty scholarship related to teaching and learning, and the development of effective teaching methods.

A lifelong Rhode Island resident, Dwyer lives in Providence. A devoted family man, Dwyer is married and enjoys spending as much time as possible with his three grown daughters and two young grandsons.

Honorary Degree Recipient

JOHN E. TAYLOR JR.

Doctor of Business Administration

John E. Taylor Jr. is an executive with significant expertise in strategic planning, issues management and governmental/public relations in regulated industries. He is currently the executive chairman of the board of Twin River Worldwide Holdings (TRWH), the owner of Twin River Casino and Newport Grand Casino in Rhode Island; the Hard Rock Hotel & Casino in Biloxi, Mississippi; and Arapahoe Park, a horse racetrack outside of Denver, Colorado.

Under his leadership, TRWH has grown to contribute approximately $300 million annually in gaming revenue, which represents the state's third-largest source of revenue. In Rhode Island alone, the company employs more than 2,000 professionals and welcomes over 17,000 daily visitors at its two properties.

Taylor has helped spearhead growth through acquisition (including the Biloxi Hard Rock Hotel & Casino and Newport Grand) and expansion of services. These include 24/7 operations and the addition of table games, a hotel and a poker room at TRWH's flagship Twin River Casino. More recently, Taylor orchestrated the successful passage of a statewide referendum that transferred the Newport Grand license to a new casino in Tiverton, Rhode Island, opening in the fall of 2018. He serves on the board of PILCO, the IP Affiliate of Acres 4.0, and has provided strategic consulting advice to brick-and-mortar and internet gaming companies primarily on public policy matters.

His past job titles include being CEO of GameLogic Inc., a company focused on developing online gambling and marketing strategies for regulated gambling entities. In 2009, GameLogic was named to AlwaysOn's Global 250 and its product was named to the Casino Journal's list of the Top 20 Most Innovative Gaming Technology Products.

Previously, Taylor spent nearly 10 years at GTECH Corporation, now known as IGT, the leading international provider of lottery services to governments. While there, he founded and was CEO of its gaming/entertainment subsidiary which owned pari-mutuel facilities; operated racinos and Native American casinos; and provided a variety of technology for government-sponsored gaming operations around the world. He simultaneously served as vice president and member of the executive management committee of GTECH Holdings Corporation. Prior to GTECH, Taylor served the special assistant to the governor of Rhode Island, a senior staff position within the governor's office.

Taylor has spoken at numerous industry conferences including G2E, GIGSE and EiG. He serves on the board of directors for the Greater Providence Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Johnson & Wales University Corporation. He is a founding director of the International Social Games Association, the worldwide representative body of the social games industry based in London. He previously served as a trustee of the Rhode Island College Foundation and is a graduate of Rhode Island College.

A Pawtucket native, Taylor and his wife Jennifer have three children: Zachary, Maggie and Aidan. They reside in Vero Beach, Florida, with a home in Westerly, Rhode Island.

After the ceremony, guests may join the graduates outside under the marquee of the Dunkin' Donuts Center. Symbols of Commencement

UNIVERSITY SEAL

The university seal represents Johnson & Wales University's roots. The year at the top of the shield, 1914, is the year that the university was founded by Gertrude I. Johnson and Mary T. Wales. The dragon of St. George on the upper portion of the crest honors the Wales family, while the lower portion of the crest bears the cross of St. John and honors the Johnson family.

MACE

The Johnson & Wales University mace symbolizes the ideals and values of JWU's educational philosophy. Cast of silver and bronze, it is engraved with the names of our founders and presidents, past and present. Our campus locations are engraved on the golden bands. On ceremonial occasions, university officials carry the mace to display the unity and continuity of Johnson & Wales University.

The mace dates to medieval times, when it was first used as a weapon. Forbidden to use swords, medieval European bishops were allowed to enter battle with a mace — typically an iron or steel club designed to split armor. By the 16th century, the mace had become a symbol of authority that colleges and universities began using ceremonially. That tradition continues today, and the mace is carried as part of formal academic occasions like these at colleges and universities across the globe.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The tradition of wearing distinctive dress for academic reasons dates back to the Middle Ages. Today, academic costumes are usually worn in the United States by people participating in academic ceremonies.

The faculty and platform party wear regalia representative of the degrees they possess.

HOODS

Originating from the cowls of monastic orders, the hoods are the most distinctive part of the academic regalia. Their shape and size indicate the level of degree attained, and the colors reflect both the academic field as well as the institution that granted the degree.

The fields of study most frequently represented in academic processions are the following:

FIELD OF STUDY	COLOR
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Business, Commerce	Nugget
Education	Light Blue
Fine Arts	Brown
Law	Purple
Physician Assistant Studies	Green
Social Work	Citron

CAPS

There is more variety in the shape and color of academic hats than in any other area. Master's and doctoral degree recipients wear the tassel on the left throughout the ceremony, and the doctoral soft-cap often features a gold tassel.

To attendees of this event:

Johnson & Wales University has hired professional photographers/videographers to capture images of this graduation for use in educational and promotional materials. Attendance at this event constitutes each individual's consent to Johnson & Wales University to have their image and voice recorded and retransmitted for any and all purposes at the university's discretion. If you do not agree with the foregoing, please see a university special events staff member.
